Local Councils Liaison forum

Some of you may not be aware of this forum which normally meets twice a year. It essentially forms one of our intentions as set out in our Corporate Plan. The Plan has (4) themes. To assist you I am referring to the theme of 'Putting residents first' and our overall intention of being a council that listens to and acts for residents. Within this vision we have broken it down into two parts, namely.

(a) we will actively and positively engage with and listen to our town and parish councils. This being undertaken by continuing to promote and develop liaison with town and parish councils through regular meetings of the local council's liaison forum (LCLF). Equally we will ensure that engagement with town and parish councils forms a key part of the council's approach to community engagement and consultation. It is therefore essential that regular meetings of the LCLF take place. Feedback will be sought from the town and parish councils regarding the utility and potential development of the forum.*

(b) we will support town and parish councils to better represent their communities. This being achieved by promoting awareness through the local council's liaison forum of "good practice" support which is available through the Essex Association of Local Councils (EALC), especially its Chartermark scheme.*

I am taking the opportunity to inform you what transpired at the recent LCLF, held on 14th September. As the UDC Communities Cabinet portfolio holder, who with the Chief Executive have a joint Lead role for this engagement; I was disappointed to witness the lack of representatives from our town and parish councils. There were only 5 present. I felt sorry for our Officers who had spent time in preparing reports and I was also embarrassed as we had representatives from Essex County Fire & Rescue Service, Essex County Council and a Culture advisor in attendance to give presentations.

I will be discussing with our new Chief Executive how best we can engender more enthusiasm. I strongly support engagement bottom up with our town and parish councils and I feel it is a vital link in the chain of communication. It is also a partnership whereby collaboration gives a strength to make things happen.

I would however like to highlight one matter from this forum. Our Community Safety Officer (Angela Greneski) referred to Community Safety Cameras – CCTV surveillance framework. In so doing she outlined that stringent rules are in place through the CCTV Code of Practice. There are self-assessment forms which incidentally she can supply. Essentially anyone looking to instal CCTV must justify why the cameras are required and that any such installation would need to be reviewed to ensure compliance with legislation. Our Community Safety Officer should be the first port of call if a town or parish council is considering installing such cameras.

The UDC Community Team of Officers

I am pleased to report business as usual for our officers within the community team. They are but a small team and are probably the 'Cinderella' section in this council. They are not high profile and are not seen as being at the forefront of what the council is required and expected to deliver. Essentially, they quietly get on with their work. I would suggest many do not realise what the Communities team do. That said, I would very much hope through the reports such as this, which I write for you, give you a clearer awareness of their responsibilities. Put simply, they carry out a considerable engagement within the communities across the district; they guide and support and in so doing signpost to other agencies or call upon them for assistance if unable to solve the problem themselves. Participation as partners is very much embedded in the way they conduct themselves. Working closely with them as I do very much admire their dedication and professionalism.

Partnership initiatives

We work hard all year round to address anti-social behaviour (ASB) across the district in partnership, in the main with Essex Police. The period between 19th – 25th July saw us participating in the first national anti-social behaviour awareness week, which gave us the opportunity to highlight how we work with our partners.

We started off in Great Dunmow with an Uttlesford Community Safety Partnership (CSP) event at the Recreation Ground on Monday 19th July. Police Officers in uniform from the Uttlesford Community Policing Team, together with Officers from our environmental health and environmental protection officers together with our communities' officers, talked to residents and visitors about their concerns and provided them with useful information, including Watch schemes they could join, how to report ASB and what UDC could do to assist them.

People were also able to enjoy a free drink and a biscuit supplied by volunteers from the Council for Voluntary Services Uttlesford (CVSU) at their mobile horsebox café.

Similar events were held in Saffron Walden, Stansted Mountfitchet and Thaxted throughout the week and we engaged with around 250 people. Tool marking also took place with more than 80 tools marked, and owners were also encouraged to register their tools. Whilst in Elsenham, the police talked to motorists about how to keep their 'keyless cars' safe.

As I will mention again later in into this report; through the (CSP) 'Reaching rural communities' initiative, during this week various members of the partnership visited 19 farms in the Thaxted area to talk to farmers and landowners about the specific issues they face, particularly at the time of bringing in the harvest, which is probably their busiest time of the year.

Essex Police and licensing officers from UDC also visited licensed premises in Great Dunmow to talk about the town's pub watch scheme.

Essex Police deployed member of their roads policing team that week to carry out speed checks in Great Dunmow, Leaden Roding, Newport and Thaxted. Speed checks and surveys were also carried out with Community Speed Watch members. A total of 41 people during the week were reported for driving at excess speed.

I would like to highlight that anti-social behaviour is not just nuisance behaviour, it can severely impact on victims and make their lives a misery. Whilst some of this is down to people deliberately causing problems, there are others who are unaware their behaviour is seen as intimidating or disruptive. There are several ways of dealing with ASB, supporting victims and dealing with those responsible.

Human trafficking and modern slavery

As part of Operation Aident (an Essex Police initiative), a team from our Community Safety partnership (which included, Fleur Brooks our UDC Safeguarding Officer and officers from our Environmental Health department), have been out and about in the district raising awareness of human trafficking and modern slavery, ahead of the National anti-slavery day scheduled for 18th October.

This partnership team joined modern slavery charity, Stop the Traffick, at Birchanger Services a during the middle of September to raise awareness of the issue. Transport hubs, haulage routes and freight vehicles are used to traffic people in and out of the UK, and the team was keen to engage with lorry drivers and give out information about the signs to look for and how to report.

More information about the initiative is available at:

<https://antislaveryday.com/>

<https://www.stophetraffik.org/>

Catalytic convertor theft

The precious metal in catalytic convertors has led to an increase in their theft within this district.

I am pleased to report the Uttlesford Community Safety Partnership is hold a free catalytic converter marking session in Saffron Walden on Sunday 17th October from 10.00am to 2.00pm at Tread First Garage, Shire Hill. The kits, which retail at ?25, are subject to availability and we are asking residents who are interested to register their vehicle by sending an email to uttlesford.cpt@essex.police.uk

The Council for Voluntary Service (CVSU) will be on hand to provide a free hot or cold drink.

Process for reporting speeding and traffic management issues

I am frequently asked if I can assist in securing a police presence at locations around the district where it is suggested speeding offences are taking place. Our Community Safety Officer also receives a considerable number of enquiries on this subject. We thought it would be useful to share the process for the way in which to report speeding and other traffic management issues.

In the first instance, we would ask you to visit the Local Highways Panel \(LHP\) pages on the Essex Highways website. Here you will find guides relating to many different highways-related topics, including guidance on speeding which should help you to understand if there are grounds to take your queries forward.

If there are grounds to take an issue forward, you will need to ask your representing county council member to request that a speed survey is undertaken. This will evidence whether there is a speeding problem or not. If there is, any obvious engineering solutions will be looked at through the LHP. Essex Police will also be notified through the Safer Essex Roads Partnership, and targeted enforcement will be carried out.

Recruiting Community Special Constables

It is an ambition of the Police, Fire & Crime Commissioner for Essex to recruit more Community Special Constables (CSC) during the next 4-years. This is an ambitious objective whereby he would like to see a CSC in every parish in Essex. At present Newport and Birchanger have their own funded Special Constable. I am pleased to report that Thaxted Parish Council have just been given the approval by Essex police to start the process of recruiting a CSC. These officers are fully warranted and therefore have the power of arresting offenders if so required. Should you or your parish councils require further information on this scheme please contact Fiona Gardiner, our Communities, health & well-being Manager at fgardiner@uttlesford.gov.uk

Police, Fire & Crime Commissioner for Essex

Over the past couple of months, I have participated in a considerable number workshops arranged by the Police, Fire & Crime Commissioner for Essex (PF&CC). These being established to assist the PF&CC to produce a new police and crime plan for the next four years. I was invited to attend the ten initial workshops due to my liaison role with the police. This identifying me as being a key stakeholder. Added to that involvement, I have in the latter stages of moving towards a draft plan been further able to contribute; this time as a member of the Essex Police, Fire and Crime panel (which is responsible for scrutinising the PF&CC). It has enabled me as a predominant rural district to remind the PF&CC and his staff of our needs without losing sight of the requirement to have the comfort of seeing uniform police officers present on the streets of our built-up areas.

I am hopeful from what I have seen as we travel towards a definitive draft, that Uttlesford will witness many of our concerns being addressed in this new plan. Hopefully, for example we will see: -

- i. More investment in fighting rural crimes, such as hare coursing, wildlife crime, heritage crime, fuel theft, unauthorised incursions and fly tipping as well as the theft of major plant and equipment.
- ii. Working more closely with rural communities and councils to understand rural communities and their issues, prevent crime and receive feedback on police activities.
- iii. Encourage the reporting of rural crime by working with partners to promote ways to report and show the positive impact this has on targeting offenders and crime hot spots.
- iv. Ensure Police and the Fire & Rescue Service work closely together to protect those in rural and isolated settings through joint advice and support.
- v. Develop the new Tri-Service Rural Community Officer pilot.

Incidentally this is an interesting concept and is currently being trialled in the Maldon and Dengie peninsular districts of the county. This officer will work, in uniform wearing the insignia of all three emergency services, but for administration and supervision purposes will be part of the fire & rescue service. The role being to engage with residents and to either directly tackle or pass on safety concerns at a very local level.

The intention of these five examples is clearly to prevent crime and to reduce vulnerability in rural communities. Here in Uttlesford with regards to point iv) I believe we are ahead of the game, in so much as our Community Safety Officer has been instrumental in persuading the Uttlesford Community Safety Partnership (CSP) to adopt the objective of Reaching Our Rural Communities project. I have already spoken about this in an earlier paragraph, where I gave a resume of the work conducted in the ASB awareness week. I also made mention in my July report. “This as an initiative carries the aim of reaching every farm across the district in the next 12 months. It will see members of the partnership conducting visits to land and farm owners to provide well-being, crime prevention and fire safety advise. The intention being to provide reassurance around the fear of crime and up to date methods on how to report crime; provide details and joining instructions for Farm Watch and Neighbourhood Watch; provide advice about the Farming Community Network and Farmer's Union; raise awareness of domestic abuse, how to report it and where to reach out for help; conduct high visibility policing patrols; carry out fire safety visits, focussing on farm outbuildings and providing advice to prevent fires/explosions; tackle loneliness and isolation by offering advice on clubs and networks specifically directed to the farming community".

This project has been picked up by the PF&CC and he has showcased it as an example of good practice across the county. Well done team Uttlesford!

Crimestoppers

Several councillor colleagues have spoken with me about crime issues within their communities. This inevitably leads me to pose the question, "Has it been reported to the Police?" On many occasions, I am told, "Yes, I think so, because it is all over social media." When I pass that information to our liaison officer in the community Hub, there inevitably is no trace of the matter having been reported. I would therefore take this opportunity to urge you all to encourage residents to report first, and then, if that is their want to chat about it on Facebook. Put very simply, unless the Police are aware of what is taking place, they are not able to apply resources where most needed.

I also have had conversations with some councillors regarding members of their community wanting to tell someone about a crime but don't want to go to the police. This being particularly so with regards to crime that involves drugs and violence. Essentially, they know something about a local crime and want to speak up and thereby make a difference, but don't want anyone else to find out. This is where Crimestoppers plays such a very big part in stopping crime because it is 100% anonymous. Please bear this in mind and advise accordingly if you are approached by a resident facing this quandary.

They should get in touch by telephoning 0800 555 111 or via their secure online form, and one of their trained team will take details of the crime, but never any personal details about the informant. Put simply that person will have no police contact, no witness statements are required and no court appearances. The only person who will ever know they got in touch with Crimestoppers will be themselves.

Our UDC Community Safety Officer is currently liaising with the charity for the purpose of having a joint initiative throughout Uttlesford, for the purpose of raising awareness of how they operate and can be of assistance. Watch this space.

Visit by the High Sheriff of Essex

We are to receive a visit from the High Sheriff (Simon Brice) on 7th October. As I'm sure you are aware this is an unpaid, ceremonial but justice related role, which dates to Anglo Saxon times. I know he is particularly interested in issues such as domestic abuse, modern slavery, county line drug gangs, mental health and rural crime.

The purpose of his visit is to meet our UDC communities' team and learn how our local partnership works and how we are tackling the crime related matters, which he has chosen during his year of office. I am sure we have much to share with him and I will certainly be championing our staff, the police, the fire service and the voluntary sector in how we work closely together for the good of the people of Uttlesford.

Youth

Hate crime

We continue to offer Hate Crime awareness workshops to young people across our four secondary schools and youth groups. We hope to facilitate Essex Police's Hate Crime unit to come and deliver these. Young people completing the course have the option of becoming Hate Crime Ambassadors in their schools and in so doing helping to raise awareness of how Hate Crime is identified and reported.

The Youth Council

Work also continues to re-establish interest in the Youth Council with a recruitment campaign in schools. Existing members are maintaining their current positions and two youth councillors are currently members of Cllr. Pepper's full councils Climate Change working group. This is a key area of work which we hope will encourage young people to be part of many projects to address climate change issues both in schools and their communities and in doing so create opportunities for them to join the youth council. We are also working to create better engagement of young people with their local parish councils and to facilitate joint collaborative working with District Councillors.

The Uttlesford Youth Initiatives Working Group

The Youth Initiatives Working Group is working through its funding allocation and aside from the repeated match funding agreements, which are:

Saffron Walden Town Council £10,000, Stansted Mountfitchet Parish Council £7,500 and Great Dunmow Town Council £5,000.

I am pleased to report the following projects have been funded:

Saffron Walden County High School LGBTQ and Allies – Diversity workshops.

Radwinter Parish Council – BMX cycle tuition.

YES Flyers – Build a Plane Project [in partnership with Stansted Airport College]

Great Easton Primary School – Post Covid Mental Health & Transition to Secondary School group, a work project for young people with special educational needs

There is £20,000 remaining.

The Youth Initiative Working Group has decided to undertake a digital mapping exercise to record the type and spread of youth provision to assess how best to allocate future funding. Next year's funding cycle will invite bids from April 1st, 2022 with a closing date of 20th June for the first [and hopefully only] round. It is our intention to invited select members to be part of a funding panel for discussion and decision making, rather than at present circulating the bids to the wider group asking them to vote.

Interestingly, Essex County Council have just recently formed a similar group for Uttlesford consisting of the four County Councillors and other stakeholders involved in youth work in the district. However, for some obscure reason, myself as the UDC Cabinet Portfolio holder for Youth have not been invited to the table. I will be lobbying to seek assurance I will be included.

As we are all aware, during the past decade the County Council has severely cut youth services across the county by almost 70%. The Conservative led administration at County Hall in 2014 decided to stop running youth services. They made very experienced youth leaders redundant in the quest to save money. Their intention being to train volunteers to take their place. We have experienced them showing very little interest at all, albeit they are responsible for youth services. In 2014 they slashed the budget from £5 million to £2.4 million at the stroke of a pen.

Interestingly it was reported in the Guardian on the 16th of last month, with a headline of “Youth services in England and Wales, face being decimated.” Youth leaders are calling for the recruitment of an additional 50,000 youth workers and volunteers to meet a tripling in levels of need during the pandemic. Public spending cuts, coupled with the depleted reserves of youth charities mean that failure to give more support “will see youth clubs and centres close, the youth sector decimated and lost opportunities for young people”, said Leigh Middleton, the chief executive of the National Youth Agency. He went on to say, “there will not be much left to cut further without losing it all. Every decision not to invest forces more and more youth centres into perilous situations”.

This recent decision by the County Council to form an Uttlesford working group shows just how late they are coming to the party. Hopefully they will not be trying to duplicate our work but with an intention of working with us as a partner for the ultimate benefit of our young residents. We as a district council have tried to fill the void left by Essex County Council but with limited resources and availability of funds, we are probably merely scratching the surface; that said it will not deter us from doing our best.

New Youth Provision Opportunities

We are currently working in the following locations to support volunteer led youth provision in community buildings.

Takeley [Community Hub]

Thaxted

Hatfield Heath

Leaden Roding

Fritch Green

All involve members of the parish councils and community volunteers. The District Council will work in partnership with the Essex Youth Service and Essex Association of Boys and Girls clubs to provide the support and resources they need to get established but ultimately each project will need to be self-sustainable.

Projects in Schools

Our Communities Officer (John Starr) is continuing to work with our planning and business departments to try and offer the opportunity for schools to work alongside us in delivering the local plan and business improvement. By embedding some of these topics in their curriculum young people can hopefully benefit from working on real life situations. Sustainable housing or starting a new business are but two examples, whilst at the same time providing valuable feedback to the District Council. This all being part of our intention to give local young people a voice and to ensure they are heard and acted upon.

Colin Day

District Councillor for Great Dunmow South & Barnston Ward

Cabinet member for Communities, Youth, Public Safety, Emergency Planning, and liaison with the Police & Fire Service
